

MONTCLAIR STATE UNIVERSITY

School of Business Post-MBA Certificate Programs

Retool. Refresh. Refocus.

With the extraordinary pace of change in business practices—and the extraordinary new challenges of today's global economy—even the most experienced professional can start to feel a bit behind the curve (if not the eight ball).

Our post-MBA certificates offer you the chance to tune up your knowledge – with a flexible program of study. We offer convenient choices for busy working people.

Montclair State University has post-MBA certificates in:

- Accounting
- Finance
- International Business
- Management
- Management Information Systems
- Marketing

Each certificate allows you to select four elective courses from the same portfolio of advanced classes we offer to our MBA students. The courses you might wish you'd taken before, or those in emerging areas of business where an expert guide might be just what you need.

We know how busy you already are, so all of our classes are conveniently scheduled for working professionals. Almost all meet just once a week, 7-9:30 pm on a weeknight (Monday–Thursday) or on Saturday mornings. And we offer classes throughout the year, in Fall, Spring, and Summer terms.

See our Web site for the latest course schedules and descriptions: www.montclair.edu/mba

Getting started.

Applying for a post-MBA certificate couldn't be easier, especially when you apply online.

You just need...

- a transcript of your MBA degree (or a closely related graduate degree, such as Economics, Public Administration, or Organizational Psychology*);
- a current resume; and
- a modest application fee.

Some additional pre-matriculation coursework may be required.*

Applications are reviewed continuously, and once admitted you can start taking classes in the next available term.

For most applications, the admission process will take 2 weeks or even less. But space in our courses is limited, usually to no more than 25 students: If you're eager to start refreshing your business expertise, and re-aligning your skills and knowledge, don't delay!

The School of Business

Montclair State University's School of Business is accredited by AACSB International, the mark of excellence in college-level business programs worldwide. Only about one third of the programs in North America hold this prestigious accreditation.
